Lord, God, all creation is Yours, and You call us to serve You by caring for the gifts that surround us. May the example of St. Isidore urge us to share our food with the hungry and to work for the salvation of mankind. We ask this through our Lord, Jesus Christ, Your Son, who lives and reigns with You and the Holy Spirit, one God for ever and ever. Amen.

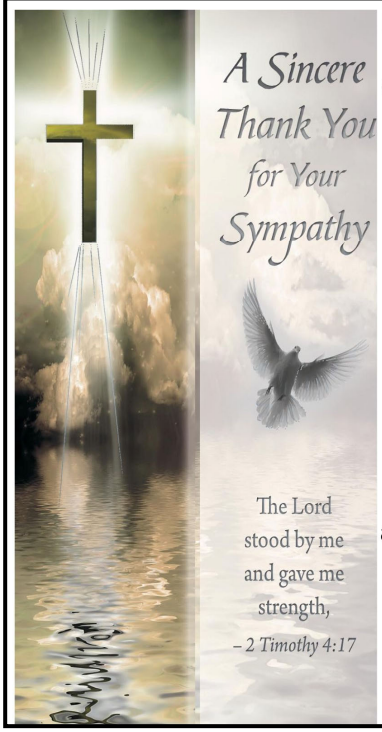
Jesus Thirsts: The Miracle of the Eucharist
This visually stunning film takes viewers on a global journey to uncover the transformative power of the Eucharist. Engaging in profound dialogue with prominent Catholic leaders, the film explores the biblical origins of the Eucharist and shares powerful personal stories of lives transformed by the Blessed Sacrament.

How to Grow in Eucharistic Devotion (Even When You're Busy)
The Eucharist is the source and summit of the Christian life—but how do we actually grow in devotion to it in the middle of everyday life? In this episode of Practicing Catholic, Taylor Kemp and Scott Hefelfinger explore the beauty of the Eucharist and simple, practical ways to deepen your relationship with Christ.



Dear Parishioners of St. Isidore

On April 11th our Lord called to himself my dear mom Genevieve.

I would like to express my gratitude to all of you for your condolences, prayers, masses arranged for the repose of my mom's soul, and all the generosity you have shown to me and my family.

May the lord in his love and mercy bless you with abundance with everything you need on this journey.
Peace & Love,
Fr. Robert

Knowing Christ Through Encounter
(by Pope Benedict XVI)

We need the living Christ, whom we can know only through our encounter with Him. But encounter presumes actual presence—the Real Presence, which, in turn, requires the Sacrament and the Church that alone is authorized to give us the Sacrament, the Church that Christ Himself willed into existence and continues to support. The Eucharist, at each new celebration, must be recognized anew as the core of our Christian life. But we cannot celebrate the Eucharist adequately if we are content to reduce it to a ritual of—more or less—a half-hour's duration. To receive Christ means to worship Him. We welcome Him properly and worthily at the solemn moment of receiving Him only when we worship Him and in worshiping Him learn to know Him, come to understand His nature, and follow Him.

We need to learn once more how to rest peacefully in His gentle presence in our churches, where the Eucharist is likewise always present because Christ intercedes for us before the Father, because He always awaits us and speaks to us. We must learn again how to draw inwardly close to Him, for it is only thus that we become worthy of the Eucharist. We cannot prepare ourselves to receive the Eucharist simply by thinking about how it should be done. We can prepare for it only when we try to comprehend the depths of its demands on us, of its greatness; when we do not reduce it to our level, but let ourselves be raised to its exalted level; when we become aware of the accumulated sound of the prayers offered during all the centuries in which generations of men have advanced and are still advancing toward Christ.

The Sacrificial Aspect of the Eucharist
(by Pope Benedict XVI)

In the fundamental prayer of the Church, the Eucharist, the heart of our life is not merely expressed but is realized day after day. At the most profound level, the Eucharist has to do with Christ alone. He prays for us; He puts his prayer on our lips, for only He can say: This is my Body—This is my Blood. Thus He draws us into His life, into the act of eternal love by which He gives Himself up to the Father, so that we are made over into the Father's possession with Him and that through this very act Jesus Christ Himself is bestowed on us, Thus the Eucharist is a sacrifice: being given up to God in Jesus Christ and thereby at the same time having the gift of His love bestowed upon us, for Christ is both the giver and gift. Through Him and with Him, and in Him we celebrate the Eucharist. Communion with Him is that communion with the whole, without which there is no communion with Christ (it has to be all three).

A part of Christian prayer and of the Christian act of faith is committing oneself in faith to the whole, overcoming one's own limits. The Liturgy is not the setting up of some club, an association of friends; we receive it from the whole Church, and we have to celebrate it as coming from the whole and directed toward the whole. Only then do we believe and pray aright, when we are living it in the context of this act of self-transcendence, of self-abnegation, directed toward the Church of all times and of all places: this is what Catholicism essentially is. That is what we aim at whenever we step out of the zone of what is ours to unite ourselves with the pope and thus enter into the Church or all nations.
